NOTICE — OVERBOOKING OF FLIGHTS

Airline flights may be overbooked, and there is a slight chance that a seat will not be available on a flight for which a person has a confirmed reservation. If the flight is overbooked, no one will be denied a seat until airline personnel first ask for volunteers willing to give up their reservation in exchange for compensation of the airline's choosing. If there are not enough volunteers, the airline will deny boarding to other persons in accordance with its particular boarding priority. With few exceptions, including failure to comply with the carrier's check-in deadline of 60 minutes prior to each flight segment, persons denied boarding involuntarily are entitled to compensation. The complete rules for the payment of compensation and each airline's boarding priorities are available at all airport ticket counters and boarding locations. However, some airlines do not apply these consumer protections to travel from some foreign countries, although other consumer protections may be available. Check with your airline or your travel agent.

- Conditions of Carriage apply.

Disclaimer

You have booked an interline journey if one or more of your flights is operated by a partner carrier. No changes are allowed on the date, origin and destination or passenger name. Separate fees or charges may apply for add-on services.

For flights operated by a partner carrier other than Scoot, you are subject to the partner carrier's Conditions of Carriage and Terms & Conditions, copies of which may be obtained from the partner carrier via their website or call centre.

Scoot is not obliged to cover any expenses or losses incurred as a result of flight mis-connections. We recommend that you purchase travel insurance for your journey.
